

Duro Felguera is a global company based in Asturias. It was born at the end of the 19th century with the first ironworks and the exploitation of coal, a period in which it was already the most prominent agent of industrialisation in Spain.

Since then, innovation, talent and quality have been the driving forces behind its extraordinary development to become an international benchmark.

The company specialises in the full execution of EPC or turnkey projects and the provision of services in the energy and industrial sector, with a special focus on energy transition and industrial decarbonisation, as well as digitalisation.

Duro Felguera becomes the world's largest steel producer and coal from Spain

Duro Felguera is active in the manufacture of capital goods.

Specialisation in the execution of turnkey energy and industrial projects

The current name is set of the company: Duro Felguera, S.A.

Opening of new central offices in the Science and Technology Park of Gijón

DF is restructured into several business lines with a special focus on energy. renewables, hydrogen vector and smart systems

Capital increase and entry, as industrial partners of

Prodi Group and Mota-Engil Mexico

